Stayton Pleads Guilty.

"I wish to plead guilty," said John T. Stayton, when he was asked by Judge Dole in the U. S. Court yesterday morning, what his plea was to the indictment hat had been brought against him for opening official mail addressed to Postal Inspector Hare. Stayton's plea of guilty came as something of a surprise. Judge Dole set Friday as the day for sentence. Stayton appeared to be much affected during the proceedings.

The February term of the United States District Court will be a very busy one and the calendar will include several cases that have been frequently continued. J. Rosenberg, the junk dealer, indicted months ago for receiving stolen property, will come up for trial this morning on the first indictment.

A number of cases of Japanese indicted for importing women for immoral purposes will come up Friday to be set, including that of Isoi. In this connection Judge Dole made a special recommendation to the grand jury in his charge. Judge Dole said:

"I am informed by the District Attorney that several indictments were found by the grand jury of the October, 1908, term, charging certain persons with the importation of women for the purposes of prostitution I would eall your attention to the importance of the law of which this is a violation. Where individuals or companies take up such an enterprise for profit, it is an attack not only upon the marriage status but also against the SEIZED A SHOW AND

It is probable that the chairman-ship of the judiciary will go again to an Oahu man, E. A. Douthitt being the selection, while E. A. C. Long will probably get back on the education committee as chairman. Oshu, in fact, seems in a fair way to do mighty well in the way of chairmanships, as it is stated that Castro and Correa are also in line for first places.

Representative G. F. Affonso of Hila will preside over the opening session of the House, under the rule that the temporary speakership goes to the representative of the First Representative District who leads the poll. Affonso is the editor of the Portuguese journal, Setta. The Democrats are keeping very quiet about their work, if any is being done. The various members of the party ''no savvied'' yesterday on all questions asked.

Editor H. M. Coke is expected back February 20.
